ADVICE

Arrive to Venice with:

comfortable shoes, light luggage and no hurry.

Catch up with friends and with yourself in minor Venice, away from the pomp of St. Mark and city representation, walk along the shimmering fascinated of trembling reflection in the water of the sumptuous palaces and humble homes of fishermen, breathe the most pure Venetianity : emotions that predispose the heart and soul of the traveler to discover the true value of man, to ask those questions that always accompany the becoming of the human race.

The conference on the program of spiritual evolution imprinted in the iris would give such a response, although inevitably incomplete, precisely to these profound needs.

To recognize and decipher messages written on the border of the collarete of your iris will show the student the thrill of learning a technique able to investigate the deeper aspects of the human being, then place it in his everyday life, for the service of those who feel this yearning deep in their heart .
